

Industrial Safety Inc.

Industrial Safety Inc. operates their business out of the old Village Hall building.

By Eric Johnson
Photos by Fred Loomis

Welcome to a new section for the Wisconsin Fire Journal. In future issues we will feature a company that either manufactures and/or sells firefighting related equipment for the firefighters in Wisconsin. We hope you will find this new section interesting. Please consider patronizing these companies when you are shopping for new equipment for yourself or your department.

The Village of Clear Lake is located off Hwy. 63 in Polk County. It is typical of many small towns scattered across the state. It has many churches and restaurrants that help the people that live there feel more like family than strangers. Many of the businesses in these small towns are family owned as well.

Industrial Safety, Inc. is no exception to the rule. Originally started by his father, it is now owned by Adam Jarchow. Adam just happens to be a volunteer firefighter as well which is the reason that Industrial Safety, Inc. offers so much for its customers like you. “We service what we sell!” stated General Manager Andrea Cress, with a smile. “We put everything into a fire station except the truck”. But paging through their fire catalog it looks like they’ll help get you a new truck as well.

Industrial Safety, Inc. operates their business out of the old Village Hall building in town which was renovated for a brewery prior to them purchasing the building. It even has a hand-crafted spiral staircase that leads up to the offices and brain center for the business.

Industrial Safety team, Andrea Cress, Nicole Friendt, Leo Tumm, Adam Jarchow, and Brooke Schaffer.

Walking around the store section, a customer can buy a new set of gloves, helmet light, traffic vest for themselves, or order new Veridian turnout gear, Drager SCBA, Genesis rescue tools, air monitors and a wide variety of other necessities for your department.

Take a look at the Industrial Safety, Inc. ad on page 27 of this issue and consider giving them a call before you make your next purchase!

Everything from turnout gear to the racks.

A large inventory of firefighting products from several manufacturers.

Equipment repair services

On site delivery trailers.

Industrial Safety's large variety.